

Hobgrumble Joe of the Waterglades

Portlands Glade walk
Watch out here for black moorhens, hiding in the bulrushes with their leggy chicks. You might also spot dragonflies and mallard ducks. The tree canopy is a lovely dreamy place to sit and you might even spot Hobgrumble Joe blowing bubbles in the ponds too.

Prize Walk play area
A great place to have a rest in the hammock and sit like a sea captain. Can you spot the fifth crow and the last standing stone near here?

Cheering Lane
Look up to spot some very cheerful, multicoloured balconies. Could Hobgrumble Joe have based some of his symbols on these?

Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park
Here you will find the Timber Lodge and Tumbling Bay playground, a great spot to practise your climbing like Hobgrumble Joe. It's also worth climbing the hill to get a great view from the famous Olympic rings. The Velodrome is right behind you!

One giant water filter
The Waterglades are a huge natural cleaning system. The wet woodland trees and plants help to filter water which can then be used to irrigate the plants in East Village and even flush the loos in the school!

START

River Lea
Just around the corner from the Waterglades you will reach the River Lea, flowing into the Thames then out to sea, over 20 miles from here! There are often swans cruising nearby and you might also spot a strange red phone box!

Waterglades
Here you might spot damselflies, water voles, goldfinches, herons, bees, otters, ladybirds and bright beetles. It's a lovely spot to listen to the wind rustling leaves and rushes. Cheeky squirrels like to play by the BBQ area and Canada geese hang out near the main pond amongst the waterlilies.

STRATFORD INTERNATIONAL DLR STATION

Get Living London welcome office - outside you might spot ten very unique bird boxes... can you identify these famous landmarks? There is also a little herb garden within the #MYE20 sign, including sage, mint and chives, mmmmm... smells lovely!

Victory Park
Can you find Victor the gorilla, the mirror maze, a little free library and some strange black boxes in the trees? The fenced-off circular area is a bat-friendly wildlife zone.

Mirabelle Gardens
Yummy apple and pear trees, four crows on four little huts, a little free library, a cauldron and the great granite oval stone. Look up to spot pictures from Greek mythology too.
