East Village cooks up a storm with the launch of ShareEast supper clubs

Series of supper clubs at the former London 2012 Athletes' Village adds to neighbourhood's burgeoning foodie scene

[LONDON – 13 May 2015] The former Athletes' Village, East Village, is fast becoming a hot-spot for food and wine enthusiasts, and last night launched a series of 'supper clubs' in association with ShareEast. ShareEast is a unique scheme which brings together neighbours who value their time and their community to share skills and pool knowledge. The supper club scheme will see participating members take it in turns to each host a monthly dining experience; a dinner, brunch or lunch, for other members to enjoy.

Attendees to the East Village supper clubs will bring their own drinks to the dining experience whilst ShareEast will cover the cost of the ingredients, and a designated local host will prepare a meal for the group. The supper clubs are a perfect opportunity to meet neighbours, eat delicious food, and test out dinner party skills. Members who are hosting or cooking will earn Echoes (the currency of ShareEast which allows members to trade skills and time).

The launch of the supper clubs comes as East Village continues to build upon its food and drink credentials. Bottle Apostle, an independent wine retailer with a free wine matching service, is opening a new store in East Village on Saturday 23 May, one of a number of retail openings set to take place in the coming months. Gourmet pizzeria, Firezza, will also open this month, with Tina, We Salute You, a Dalston brunch and cocktail favourite, as well as Le Ziz, a modern Turkish restaurant, due to open this summer. Already open is Neighbourhood, a family-friendly gastropub, which, since its arrival at the end of last year, has become a thriving social hub for the residents of East Village.

Neil Young, Chief Executive of Get Living London, said “The arrival of supper clubs to East Village is yet another example of an innovative scheme, started by residents, which provides an opportunity for people to get to know their neighbours. I am very proud that our community is actively invested in forming new relationships and trying new things. The opening of new independent shops and restaurants in the coming months will only further establish East Village as a buzzing, vibrant neighbourhood for both residents and visitors.”
